

Using Interface's ISO 'Certification Mark' Logo

Organisations holding certification with Interface NRM Ltd for ISO 9001, ISO 14001 or ISO 45001 standards are encouraged to use our logo to promote their achievement, as long as they follow the terms and conditions for use.

Do

- ✓ Promote your certification by using the logo on stationery and publicity material, including your website and emails.
- ✓ Use the logo artwork as provided, keeping proportions and colours the same.
- ✓ Make sure the logo is large enough to read all the text.
- ✓ Hyperlink to Interface's website (www.interface-nrm.co.uk) when using the logo on your website.
- ✓ Adhere to all our terms and conditions (see below).
- ✓ Contact us if you have any questions.

Don't

- ✗ Use a logo if you don't hold certification with Interface for the relevant standard.
- ✗ Imply that the logo relates to activities outside of the scope of your certification.
- ✗ Use the 'UKAS' version of the logo on vehicles, buildings or flags. There is a non-UKAS version that can be used for these purposes (see below).
- ✗ Use the logo on products or product packaging.
- ✗ Use the logo on laboratory tests, calibration or inspection reports.

Logo Options

UKAS versions – not to be used on vehicles, buildings or flags

Non-UKAS version – can be used on vehicles, buildings or flags

The UKAS Logo

The UKAS logo is provided under the terms of use supplied by UKAS and issued under licence to Interface for its clients' use. UKAS reserves the right to withdraw its logo from any company not complying with its requirements or where that company does not meet the requirements of the relevant standard.

UKAS terms of use are set out in the document Accreditation Logo & Symbols which can be found on their website (www.ukas.com) or provided by Interface at your request.

The UKAS logo must always be used in conjunction with Interface's Certification Mark, as provided and verified by Interface for client use. Interface's Certification Mark may also be used without the UKAS logo.

Terms and Conditions of Using Interface's ISO Logo and Certificate

Interface gives permission for the use of its certificate and logos within the following confines:

- The Certificate and Logos remain the property of Interface NRM and will be returned upon termination of the certification by either party.
- The Company holds a valid certificate issued by Interface NRM to that standard.
- The Company agrees to allow Interface to conduct surveillance, recertification and/or special audits as agreed and applicable.
- The logo must always be displayed at a size large enough to read all the text, there should be an appropriate amount of clear space around the logo, the proportions and colours of the logo should not be changed.
- The UKAS logo is not used or displayed on a vehicle; however, the Interface Certification Mark (without UKAS logo) is permissible.
- It shall not be used on a product or product packaging seen by the consumer or in any other way that may be interpreted as denoting product conformity.
- It shall not be applied to laboratory tests, calibration or inspection reports, as such reports are deemed to be products in this context.
- The Company does not allow reference to its management system certification to be used in such a way as to imply that the Interface certifies a product (including service) or process.
- The Company does not make or permit any misleading statement regarding its certification.
- The Company does not use or permit the use of a certification document or any part thereof in a misleading manner.
- Upon suspension or withdrawal of its certification, the Company discontinues its use of all advertising matter that contains a reference to certification.
- The Company amends all advertising matter when the scope of certification has been reduced.
- The Company does not imply that the certification applies to activities that are outside the scope of certification.
- The Company does not use its certification in such a manner that would bring Interface NRM into disrepute and lose public trust.

Contravening any of the above Interface or UKAS requirements may lead to withdrawal of Certification and possible legal action, as appropriate.